Numb. 7095.

The Daily Courant.

Friday, July 17. 1724.

Lisbon, June 8.

DON Barthelemy de Pilar, Carmelite Fryar, ſet out from hence on the 30th paſt for Maranhaon, where he is to erect a new Biſhoprick in the Juriſdiction of Para. The Dutch Ships that have taken in at St. Ubes a Lading of Salt, were to ſail Yeſterday on their Return Home, under the Convoy of a Man of War of their Nation. The 17 Ships of the Fleet deſigned for Fernambuco and for the Bay of All-Saints, belonging to the Merchants of Porto, ſet Sail from thence for thoſe Places.

Naples, June 20. Laſt Week the Marchioneſs de Roſiano arrived here from Rome, accompanied by the Marqueſs de Villaroſa, Deputy Poſt Maſter-General of all the Poſts of Italy, who went to meet her upon the Frontiers and conducted her to the Marqueſs her Spouſe, who is Director General of the ſaid Poſts. Several Perſons having preſented to the Bank here falſe Notes, ſtrict Search is made after the Falſifiers of theſe Notes. Father Sarzale, Native of this Place and Viſitor of the Auguſtines, has given in a Project to the Government for eſtabliſhing here a College for inſtructing in the Roman Faith ſuch as are of a different Religion, and for finding out the neceſſary Funds for ſuch a Deſign; whereupon they have ſummoned all the Chiefs both of the Secular and Regular Communities, in order to examine the ſaid Project, and to contribute towards it, every one according to his Ability. Conſidering the frequent Aſſaſſinations that are committed here, the rigorous Edict forbidding to wear hidden Arms is to be renewed.

Venice, June 24. The Feſtival of St. Vite and of St. Modeſte, Martyrs, having been put off till Sunday, becauſe it happened to fall this Year on Corpus Chriſti Day, the Doge, accompanied by M. Stampa, Apoſtolick Nuncio, and by the Senate, went in Proceſſion to the Church of thoſe holy Martyrs, and after having aſſiſted at the ſolemn Maſs, his Serenity returned in the ſame Pomp to the Ducal Palace, where he gave to the Pope's Nuncio and the reſt of the Company a fine Entertainment, according to Cuſtom, upon which Occaſion there was a great Appearance of the fineſt Maſks. All the Advices we have from Terra-firma are full of the great Rejoicings made by the Dominicans for the new Pope's Exaltation.

Rome, July 1. On the 26th paſt the Pope held a Conſiſtory, and gave the Cap to Cardinal Polignac, which he had not yet received, and likewiſe the Pallium to the Archbiſhop of Embrun. This Miniſter had afterwards Audience of his Holineſs, who will conſecrate him To morrow in the Church of St. Philippe de Neri. The ſaid Archbiſhop has retired to the Convent of St. Anthony, to prepare himſelf for that Ceremony. The 28th, Cardinal Spada died, in a manner ſuddenly; by his Death there is a Seventh Vacancy in the Sacred College. The ſame Day Cardinal de Rohan ſet out on his Return to Paris, and was followed two Days after by the Cardinal de Biſſi. On Sunday laſt the Pontiff went proceſſionally to the Church of St. Philippe de Neri, being preceeded by all the Clergy of this Capital, and followed by all the Cardinals and other Prelates, with a vaſt Crowd of People, to open the Jubilee on account of his Election, which is to laſt a Fortnight. The next Day the Pope held a Conſiſtory, in which Cardinal Ottoboni was raiſed to the Order of Second Prieſt. Meſſ. Merlini, Coſſa, and Don Mondilla Orſini the Pope's Nephew, were afterwards propoſed as Titular Biſhops in Partibus Infidelium, and the Pontiff having alſo propoſed to the Cardinals, in a ſhort but pathetick Diſcourſe, his Deſign to publiſh an univerſal Jubilee for the next holy Year 1725, all the Cardinals agreed unanimouſly to it. On Wedneſday, St. Peter's Eve, the Pope went privately in the Morning into the Baſilick of that Name, where he aſſiſted at Divine Service in the Choir with the Canons, without any other Diſtinction than ſitting firſt under a very ſmall Canopy. In the Afternoon he aſſiſted at the firſt Veſpers, which were ſung to Muſick in the ſaid Church. The Pontiff did not receive the Horſe that Day from the Emperour as King of Naples, by reaſon that the Conſtable Colonna, his Imperial Majeſty's Ambaſſadour Extraordinary, who was to preſent it to Benedict XIII. had fallen ill the Day before of the Small Pox; but as they are come out very kindly, there is Room to hope that his Excellency will be ſhortly in a Condition to do this Piece of Homage to his Holineſs. On Thurſday in the Morning, the Feſtival of St. Peter, the Pope, aſſiſted by the whole Sacred College, celebrated in Perſon a ſolemn Maſs in the Baſilick, and at the ſame Time that the Pope was going down, the Archbiſhop Batelli, aſſiſted by all the Clerks of the Chamber, did in the Porch of the ſaid Church, make a ſolemn Publication for the univerſal Jubilee of the following holy Year 1725. And thoſe that uſually publiſh the Pope's Orders, got preſently on Horſeback, and went with Trumpets and Kettle-Drums to publiſh the ſame at St. John de Lateran, and St. Marie Major. Beſide the Augmentation of 4000 Crowns which the Pope added to the Pretender's Penſion of 12000 Crowns, the Pontiff has made him a Preſent of all the Moveables and Chryſtals that were found in the laſt Pope's Apartments, and which are valued at 30000 Crowns. 'Tis ſaid, that upon the Repreſentations made to the preſent Pope by the High Steward of the Apoſtolick Palace, that thoſe Moveables were all regiſtred in the Apoſtolick Chamber, he gave this Anſwer, viz. It is we ourſelves that are the Chamber. Cardinal Hannibal Albani, Chamberlain, having made a Preſent to the Pope of the Staff which Pope Pius V was wont to uſe, his Holineſs granted him all the Revenues of his Place, with the Arrears, ſo that the Apoſtolick Chamber is to pay this Cardinal a conſiderable Sum of Money. The other Cardinal Alexander Albani, having repreſented to the Pope, that the Abbey of St. Leonard in Apulia, which had been given to his Eminence a little while ago, was in a very indifferent Condition, his Holineſs has remitted to him the 14000 Crowns which this Abbey was to pay to the Apoſtolick Chamber.

Arles,

Arles, June 28. The Archbishop of this Place having heard that M. Hevaille, Canon of Salon, was dangerously ill, forbid the Curate of that Place to give him the Sacraments, by Reason he was one of the Appellants, and one of the most zealous Sticklers against the Bull: But the sick Person having summoned the said Curate three Times to give him the Sacrament, at the 3d Time he went, the Patient died soon after in the same Sentiments which he had always firmly shewed against those who were for accepting the Bull.

Stockholm, June 28. The Difference between this Crown and the Czar relating to the Limits in Finland, remains as it was. Though the Equipment of the Men of War and Frigates be in a great forwardness at Careiscroon, it is much questioned however whether that Fleet will put to Sea this Summer: Mean while the Seamen that come from Petersbourg and Cronslot report, that the Czarish Fleet is ready to sail, and that the necessary Provisions for their Voyage are already on board. The King has sent Orders to Major General Adlerfeld, his Envoy Extraordinary at the Court of Denmark, to stay there in the same Quality, and to wait the Return of their Danish Majesties from Aix la Chapelle, before he goes upon his other Commissions.

Dresden, June 30. M. de Guildenstein, a Swedish Lieutenant Colonel, received Yesterday Sentence of Death, by which he is to be beheaded. On the 23d Instant, the Thunder fell in a Village called Zinna near Torgaw, and has laid the whole in Ashes. We see here the King's Mandate, by which all the Courts of Judicature and Lawyers are ordered to carry on their Processes according to the new Regulations lately published, which are to take Place next Michaelmas-Day. There died at Hombourg six Weeks ago, a Musician called Michael, who was 150 Years old, and begat 37 Children by three Wives, he has lived to see 142 Grand and Great Grand Children.

Peronne, July 4. Near this Place there was a Discovery made some Years ago of a Mineral Well, which is owing to M. Genly, Canon of St. Furly: After having made several Experiments upon the Place, he found that these Waters were even better in their Kind and stronger than those of Forges. But the Canon, not satisfied with his own Experiments, sent Quantities of it to several Physicians and Chymists at Paris. Since that Time they are so well known that several People come and use them with Success, or else send for them Besides, these Waters have this peculiar to themselves, they do not corrupt, they keep their Mineral Quality long in Bottles well corked, and consequently can be transported to the remotest Countries: They taste of the Mineral equally in Winter and Summer, be the Weather moist, rainy, or dry.

Hague, July 12. The following Ordinance has been published here.

'THE Court of the Province of Holland being informed that a Gang of Knaves have 'been going up and down the Countries for some 'Years past, and have even applied themselves to 'certain well-disposed Families for Charity in favour of Towns, Houses, and Churches burnt 'down, shewing for that purpose counterfeit Books 'of Monies collected with false Attestations of Officers, Magistrates, and Church Wardens of the 'said Places, as also their Seals and Names counterfeited, and that many of these charitable Persons 'have already given their Alms upon seeing counterfeit Books: And for as much as these Rogues 'who had been punished some Days ago, pursuant 'to their Sentence for having had a Hand in that 'Villany, have declared that one Dr. Frederick 'was the first Contriver of this Piece of Roguery; 'For these Causes the said Court makes known 'by these Presents, for all the Inhabitants of this 'Province, to be upon their Guard, as well with 'respect to the Distribution of their Charities, as 'to the signing of their Names in such Books. 'Further, the said Court promises 300 Florins to 'whosoever shall discover the said Dr. Frederick, 'so as he may be brought to Justice, and the like 'Sum for each of his two Sons called Charles and 'Christopher. The Name of the Informer shall 'be concealed, if he desires it. Done in Council, 'July 10, 1724. Signed,

John Thierry.
